HOW THE ANARCHISTS FEEL OVER THE RESULT.

From Their Appearance They Are Evidentily Resigned to Their Awful Fate, Incidents of the Visiting Hour at the Jall-Itnmor That Spies Will Suicide ...

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. - If the condemned An-

Ail of them were awake and up with the lark, and ate as heartily as on the first day of their sojourn behind the bars. Parsons and Spies were busity engaged in writing until 9 o'clock, when she seven cell doors were opened and the prisoners bounde l lightly down the iron steps to the cage. Only relatives of the prisoners and the reporters were admitted to the row, and every package intended for th condemned men, no matter how small, was carefully examined before being delivered. The Sheriff, who was at the fali from an early hour, said that several days ago he had heard rumors to the effect that more than one of the Anarchists would take pulson rather than go to the scalfold. A rumor is current that Spies, the Anarchist, has determined to commit suicide rather died on the gallows. There are Anarchista in Chicago who declare that Spie will never be hanged. They agree that no earthly power can avail, but stoutly maintain that their leader will cheat the gallows. The intelligence, has been communicated to the proper authorities. They may be able to thwart any suicidal attempt which Spies may make, but if so, greater precautions must be enforced. Under existing regulations it would be an easy matter to convey to the doomed seven enough poison to kill seventy nien.

FIRE PANIC IN CHICAGO.

The Burning of a Ciub House Creates an Excitement in Two Hotels.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning an extensive fire was discovered in the upper stories of the Chicago ciub on Monroe street, opposite the ladies' entrance to the Paimer house. A general alarm was sounded, and soon fifty streams were playing on the hurning parts. Half a dozen club mombers, and as many women, who are employed about tue club, were asteep in the huilding at the time. They had no warning of the fismes, until the firemen rushed into their apartments and jerked them out bodily. The members all escaped, but as the building was full of smoke, it is not known whether all the women got out or not. The damage to the club is $150,000, as all the furniture and piotures were rulued by water. Everything was insured.

When the guests of the Paimer house heard the engines and hose carts dash up, and the noise of the firemen, a wild panic ensued. At the windows on Monroe street appeared a hundred frightened faces, peering into the streets, and at the sight of the many engines a rush for escape followed, under the impression that the hotel was on fire. Half-ciad fadies and gentiemen tumbled out into the halis and shricked wiidly for help. All the beilboys were promptly sent to the rooms of the guests, and with the aid of the clerks succeeded in calming the panic, though many of the guests re fused to return to their rooms until the hose carts had recied up their hose and started.

The smoke also entered the Clifton house, and its guests rushed to the streets to escape what they thought would be a holo-

J. W. Van Kenren Gives His Wife Polson and Takes a Dose Himself.

ROUNDOUT, N. Y., Nov. 4.—A tragedy has been enacted at Highland, Ulster county, that has ended one life and imperiled another: Last Saturday J. W. Van Keuren and wife, of Ution, arrived in Highland to visit Mr. Haight, the father of Mrs. Van Keuren. Yesterday the visitors appeared to be in their usual good health aud spirite. Last night on retiring Van Keuren handed his wife a tumbier, teiling her to drink haif the contents, and he would drink the other half. He said it was medicine they both needed. Mrs. Van Keuren laughingly said her husband knew best, and she swallowed her portion. A little later she felt griping pains in her stomach and a burning sensation in her throat. She was horrified when her husband told her that it was a mixture of strychnine that they had drank. Mrs. Van Keuren cried aloud for help, and her friends administered emetics. Van Keuren said he wanted no emetics. He said they both wanted to die, and he fought desperately against being forced to swallow an antidoto or an emetic. He expired in terrible agony in the presence of his wife, her family and physicians, who had been sent for,
Mrs. Van Keuren is still alive and its believed she will recover. Van Keuren left a letter, in which he said he intended administering the poison after cool deliberation, and as the only means of rescuing his wife from insanity.

The relatives of Mrs. Van Keuren said to a reporter that she had never shown crazy signs of mental aberration, and that the suicide, up to the hour of his terrible death, was considered one of the strongest minded of men. The motive for the crime seems to be vnaccountable. Tue cornor's investigation throws no light on the tragic case. Van Keuren, in his letter, said he asked one favor of the world, and that was, when his body and his wife's were consigned to the grave, that it should be said: "They loved each other." Nine years ago Van Keuren studied for the ministry, but he never took

NEGROES EXCHANGED WIVES.

A Southern Custom Among Blacks the Cause of a Bloody Battle.

New Orleans, Nov. 4.—A fatal affray at a negro church is reported from West Feliciana parish. Following a custom in vogue among plantation negroes in portions of the south, two members of the congregation exchanged wives two years ago. The bargain did not prove satisfactory and quarrels arose among the members of the much-mixed families, which gradually involved uearly the entire congregation.

It was decided a few days ago by the parties invoived to meet at the church and settle all difficulties by a general list fight. A large number were present at the appointed time, but the conditions upor which the fight was arranged were not observed. As soon as the parties came together knives and pisto s were drawn and a bloody row followed, the result of which was that Edmund Turner and Gibson Clark, the principals, were killed outright, and James Stowbery was severely if not fatally wounded.

Tragedy at a Wedding.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—A wedding festival, east of this city tast night, was the scene of a tragedy. A large number of people had gathered at the house of Walter Jackson to witness the marriage of his daughter to Ben Williams. After the coremony there was some shooting outside the house in celebration of the event, after which the men returned to the house. Carl Lipp, nineteen years old, took his revolver from his trousers pocket because it felt uncomfortable, and was about to put it in his coat when it was accidentally discharged. The ball struck Mr. Jacksou, the father of the bride, in the abdomen, making a wound from which he dled in a few minutes,

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.-The labor troubles on the sugar plantations are becoming serious. State troops now guard the Lacassaigne plantation in Terrebonne parish, where four white men were yesterday shot and wounded by the negro strikers. At present over 10,000 negro laborers are on strike. They have been summoned to return to work or leave. Reports from Receiand, La., say that the strikers in that region are tarbulent and threatening, and the citizens have asked for protection. The sheriff with a posse has been ordered to that

Passengers Carried In Open Trucks Fitted with Wooden Seats-The Story Told by an English Italiway Journal-Rules

Fifty years ago third class passengers were carried in open wagons or trucks, fitted with wooden and uncushioned seats, and the carriages were attached to the goods trains. The second class carriages were, in regard to comfort, but little, if anything, better than the thirds. They were open throughout at the regard to the matter. What the trouble sides. There was no giazing, and the partitions above the level of the doors, dividing the carriage into six compartments, each made to seat twelve persons, were formed of iaths interlaced, and admitting free currents of wind and air, to the discomfort of the na-fortunate travelers. The passengers for the various in ermediate stations were put into separate compartments and the doors locked. The clear length of each compartment on some lines was only 8 feet 71% luches, and the width 4 feet 41/4 luches, each seat being 15 inches he width. Stout passengers had some difficulty in squeezing through the doors, which were only 18 lnches wide. The first glazed and inclosed second class carriage that ever ran upon a railwny was in the first express train that ran between London and Exeter. The journey was made in five hours, the marvels of railway traveling. Today 000 carriages, many of which are fitted with the luxurles and beauties of a drawing room, and even the third class are more comfortable than the first of fifty years ago. Not only are most of these carriages comfortably and conveniently arranged, but the safety of those who use them is increased by appliances which were not even dreamt of by our railway forefathers. Of the total rali way carriages 91 per cent, are now fitted with continuous brakes, while 04 per cent, of the double line of the country is worked on the absolute block system.

TICKETS AND BAGGAGE.

The method of issuing tickets fifty years ago was very different from that now in use. From the earliest times of railway traveling the date was required to be written on the ticket, as well as the amount of fure and the time of the train by which the passenger was to start. These particulars had to be entered

The arrangements for juggage were delightfully simple. "Each passenger's luggage will," said the time bill, "as far as practicable, be placed on the roof of the coach in which he has taken his place; carpet bags and small luggage may be placed underneath the seat opposite to that which the owner occupies." A capital arrangement for securing punctual attendance was the nunouncement:

"Passengers intending to join the trains at any of the stopping places are desired to be in good time, as the train will leave each station as soon as ready, without reference to the time stated in the tables, the main object being to perform the whole journey as expeditiously as possible. Passengers will be booked only conditionally upon there being room on the arrival of the trains, and they will cave the preference of seats in the order in which they are booked. No persons are booked after the arrival of the train. All persons are requested to get on and alight from the coaches invariably on the left side, as the only certain means of preventing accidents from trains passing in an opposite di-

NO SMOKING ALLOWED. What would modern travelers say to the foliowing notice: "No smoking allowed in the station houses or in any of the coaches, even with the consent of the passengers. A substantial breakfast may be had at the station house at Birminglann by parties going by the early train, but no person is allowed to sell fiquors or catables of any kind upon the line. The company earnestly hope that the public will cooperate with them in enforcing this regulation, as it will be the means of removing a causo of delay and will greatly diminish the chance of accident." The engines in use on the Stockton and Darlington line in 1837 weighed about twelve tons, and had 14% inch cylinders and n piston stroke of 16 inches. The three pairs of wheels The assigned property consisted mainly of were each 4 feet in diameter, and the pressure of speam varied from 36 pounds to 60 pounds. an old resident of Cincinnati and a con-in- Many of the englies had only four wheels, and it was considered a great step in advance when six wheel engines were placed on the railways, the argument in their favor being that, if by any accident one of the six wheels broke, the engine would still remain erect, while if one of the four collapsed the result would be the downfail of the locomotive. On the Birmingham and Derby junction line the engines weighed ten tons ten hundredweight, and the two driving wheels were 5 feet 6 inches, and the four carrying wheels 3 feet 6 luches each.

In contrast to the above, we subjoin an ilinstration of the famous "Marchioness of Stafford" engine, exhibited by the London and Northwestern company at the Inventious exhibition in 1885, and adopted as the type of the company's express iocomotives. With tender, this type of engine weighs fiftyfour tons eleven hundredweight, and the cargo of coal is five tons. The driving wheels are 6 feet 6 inches in diameter; and the engine is worked at a pressure of 175 pounds to the square inch. The greatest noveity in these engines is, however, the adoption of the "compound" system, by which the expansive power of the steam is fully utllized.-London Railway News.

Rudeness of the Traveling Public. The other day at dinner the conversation turned upon the selfish rudeness of a portion of the traveling public. One of the persons at the table rejuted this incident: Some months ago the passengers on a night train on a branch railroad were kept awake by the lond and lineessant conversation indulged in by two men sitting at one end of the car. There were no sleeping cars attuched to the train, and one of the men in the course of their wearisome babble remarked: "It seems to me that a road which doesn't furnish sleepers ought at least to fit up their cars with head rests, such as you find on some of the eastern rouls," Whereupon a voice at the other end of the car repiled: "Head rests wouldn't heip much in this car so iong as those two men down at the other end keep on talking." The passengers roared with de-light, and one of the two offenders bristled up and declared he'd talk just as much as he pleased, but retty soon quiet relgned. The passenger who so neatly administered the needed reproof was Edward Everett Hala-New York Tribuna.

ROYAL BAK-IMG POWDER CO. 166 Wall St., New Yorks. The cutting down of Commerce street to conform to the grade of the new railroad had left a steep bank, and endangered the houses at that point. Mr. Mathews thought the gutter and wall should be built as soon as possible. All were of that opinion, but the question as to the cost of the work was the point to be first settled. Mr. Hendrixson thought the railroad company was liable. If the city had to pay the cost then there was a wall along Third street for about 1,000 feet to be built and the expense would be a heavy one. The matter was flually referred to Committee on Laws and Ordinances to investigate and report.

The account of Jack Woods for work done on West Third street was referred to the Committee on Claims and Accounts for settlement.

Dennis Geheen was granted a suspension of the payment of his taxes. The matter of the railroad crossing at Bridge street was brought up by Mr. Wood, who said he hoped some action would be taken at once to avoid any trouble at that point. If the railroad was permitted to cross the street at the height now decided upon it would seriously interfere with travel and greatly damage the street as a thoroughfare. The question was a grave one. All recogvored the railroad company at all times, and Mr. Wood thought the company should so construct its track as not to interfere with travel at that point. If the company refused to raise the grade to a proper beight he was in favor of revoking the ordinance granting the right to cross the street at the present grade. It was clearly the intention of Council when the ordinance was passed that the railroad should be at such a height as not to obstruct travel over the street. Mr. Mathews said the railroad company recognized that it had no right to obstruct travel over the street, and Colonei Child was referred to the Committee on Turnpikes and Railroads and the Committee on Propositions and Grievances to confer with Colonel Child and have a called meeting of Council if said committees thought necessary.

THE NEWS FROM ABROAD.

GERMANY'S EFFICIENT SECRET AGENTS IN EUROPE.

Mow the Knicer's Government is Informed of Everything Which Transpires in the Adjoinining Counties - A Number of Lives Lest in a Mine Explosion.

LONDON, Nov. 4 -- It appears to be indisputable that the Germans, who are seized every little while with spasms of virturus Endignation at the real or fancied presence of French spice in the Fatherland, have them-Surope, by whose patient and watchful invectigations the German government is promptly informed of everything worth knowing, which transpires in adjoining countries, particularly in Frauce and Rus-

German officers of rank and reputation do not appear to disdain such occupation and ambitious young subaiterns flud in it a path to consideration and future promotion. To the qualities of courage and adroitness they add that of being thorough linguists, and they are Alsatians In Frauce or Germanhating Poles in Russia, as the case may be. A report which has accidentally come to light gives one of these agents eimpressions of the Russian reserve of 200,060 men called together at the beginning of October and recently dismissed. He found the corps composed of good material, notwithstanding the advanced age of some of the men, giving 'promise' of being tenaclous in action, but stolid and much inferior in Intelligence to the German soldiers. Their arms, he states, are poor and of different patterns, the ammunition and clothing inferior, and the commissariat service badly managed. Though his duties were practically limited to the observation of the reserve, his generalizations agree with the conclusions of other German officers that the Russian armies are formidable in numbers only.

There is also no doubt that the most accurate information is duly received at Ber-En in regard to the massing of Russian troops at Warsaw, and the progress of the new fortifications near the frontier, particularly those at Kovno and Biaiystok, on which an immense number of men are employed. The activity of the Russians in putting their side of the border in a proper defensive condition, or making of it a forti-1ed camp as a point of support for any possible offensive movements is more than equaled by the energy with which the Germans are acting along their frontier. Konigsberg and Zilau, it is safe to say, can resist any attack made from the Bartic, but the works of Thorn, from their advanced position, forming a rampart against any Russian advance, and the magnitude of their conception are so important as to warrant the many attempts as yet unsuccessful, made to obtain possession of accurate plans of their dimensions and armament. An inquisitive French officer whose efforts for enlightenment on this subject came nigh ensuring him a prolonge i sojaurn in Spandau, is responsible for the statement that for extent and consumnate ability of design they will, when completed, be "the marvel of the world."

Iteducing Rattroad Time.

. . A Man Beaten to Death.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 4. - The revenue department has received news of the murder in "Haralson county, of William Morgan. Last January war was declared between the revenue officers and the citizens of that section of Haralson county in which the marefficers 'seized the 'still of McAlpin, one of the moohshiners. After a sharp fight, in which a dozen shots were fired, McAlpin was arrested. William Morgan was suspected of having kiven the information which led to the seizure, and he was warned hat week to leave the neighborhood. Sunday night while Morgan was at supper with his wife and children, the house was entered by six masked men, who told him that his hours were numbered and that he must at shee prepare to dis. Mrs. Morgan fell on her knees before the spokesman and pleaded for her husband, but the only reply she redived was a heavy blow from a club, which rendered her insensible. The men then set spon Morgan and beat him to death.
